++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Generally settled with sunny spells and the odd shower.

Today:
A rather cloudy start, especially across Cumbria where there may be some patchy drizzle over the fells. Staying dry for most with sunny spells becoming more widespread into the afternoon, although with the risk of the odd light shower. Maximum temperature 22 deg C (72 deg F).

Tonight:
Staying largely dry this evening with plenty of clear spells which will continue overnight, though an isolated shower is still possible. Feeling chilly under the clearest skies. Minimum temperature 7 deg C (45 deg F).

Sunday:
Another settled day with sunny intervals and light winds. Isolated showers are possible in the north and feeling warm in the sunshine. Maximum temperature 23 deg C (73 deg F).

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:
Generally fine and dry throughout with plenty of sunshine with light winds. Feeling warmer than recently, with some chilly starts.
